BETTER GET THE FACTS.

Miss Frelinghuysen Didn't Lose the Ring and It Was Not an Engagement Ring.

The Sun (mortgaged) makes a big endeavor this morning to make a sensation out of a very simple affair. It says Miss Frelinghuysen, of Newark, who is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. John C. Green, of 10 Washington square, north, on Thursday night, while dining at Delmonico's lost her engagement ring.

Miss Frelinghuysen, a tall, handsome, dark-haired lady, would have been quite amazed at the story but for the annoying notoriety which it gave her.

"I haven't lost a ring," she said to an EVENING WORLD reporter to-day, "and it was not an engagement ring. Miss —, wait a moment."

Then the Jersey belle called up the broad, stately staircase at Mrs. Green's marble-stooped residence. "Dear, would you mind having your name mentioned?"

"Well," went on Miss Frelinghuysen, "another lady and myself, guests of Mrs. Green, dined with Mr. G. G. Haven and Mr. Horace W. Gray at Delmonico's. In pulling off her glove the other lady drew off a ring—a very large solitaire diamond ring of great value.

We could not find it on the floor, and we have advertised its loss, offering $250 reward to the finder. We thought this reward would be an inducement to the finder to return it to Tiffany's.

"It was not an engagement ring at all. It was a gift to the owner, and there is nothing sensational in the occurrence. We called on Inspector Byrnes, and he is endeavoring to assist us in regaining the ring."

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF CASSIDY.

Resignation of Director Stimson, of the Metropolitan Art Schools.

Mr. John Ward Stimson has resigned his position as director of the Metropolitan Art Schools. This step was occasioned by difficulties with Patrick Cassidy, landlord of the building at the northeast corner of Forty-ninth street and Third avenue, which has been rented for the past three years by the Metropolitan Art School for working-rooms.

Mr. Cassidy is said to economize his steam at the expense of the pupils' comfort and health. The water was not run half the time. This was bad enough, but when the students began complaining that Landlord Cassidy gave offense by his remarks and by pictures which were put up in the elevator it was too much for Mr. Stimson.

Hence he tendered his resignation unless these grievances be redressed. The Trustees have found Mr. Stimson's work very satisfactory. The classes have increased and the income of the institution has been raised from $600 to more than $6,000.

Correct as Usual.

Referring to the matter of the "Held by the Enemy" Company, who are at present in St. Paul, I beg to say that your statement was correct. I telegraphed to our managers of that company Monday and Tuesday and failed to receive any reply from him. The usual manner of telegraphing me the night's receipts have also failed to reach me. I received one telegram from Milwaukee from parties in that city after the company had left, informing me that they were now bound. It is impossible, however, to be the manager of the company, Mr. Dave Haynes, sent me a telegram to Boston, supposing I was there with the "She" organization. The fact of my receiving a telegram from a son of Mrs. Kate Denim Wilson, requesting me to send him word regarding the whereabouts of the "Held by the Enemy" Company, led me to suppose that they were snow-bound for at least three days. H. A. Rockwood, Manager of Gillette's "Held by the Enemy," Jan. 20.

University Men Diving.

The class of '80 New York University, held its seventh annual reunion and dinner at Clark's on Twenty-third street last evening. More than half the class were present, including Prof. N. C. Hendrickson, Dr. Chas. S. Benedict, Harry S. Blake, Henry P. Morrison and De Laquer Berier, of this city, and W. E. Gillett, of Lehigh University. Dr. T. L. Taylor, of Union Hill, Dr. W. H. O. Taylor, of Union Hill, Dr. W. H. O. Taylor, of Port Jefferson; Herman Kudick, of Hoboken; L. M. Daniels, of Princeton; Dr. W. H. Arrowmith, of New Haven, Conn.; Drs. W. H. and W. F. Morris, of Boston; Daniel, Blake and Kudick.

Diamond Dick Robbed at Billy McGlynn's. Richard Gunbold, who is well known as "Diamond Dick," a bookmaker at Jerome Park, and who lives at 150 Maiden lane, dropped into Billy McGlynn's Old Army Hall in Street street, and after a $30 overcoat on a chair. It was about 10 P.M. on Saturday evening. The thief John Nelson, alias Sheeney Frank, who has just been released from State prison after serving two and a half years for larceny, at the Tombs, the morning of his release, had the coat was found in a saloon on the Bowery.

Collector Magone's Distinguished Callers. Judge Maynard, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, is in town to-day on private business, he says. He visited Collector Magone at the Custom-house this morning. Collector Magone afterwards told an EVENING WORLD reporter that the visit had nothing to do with public business. Col. Dan Laramore, of the Custom-house yesterday, in response to a query, said: "The collector has no political significance to the collector his visit had no political significance."

A thrilling story of how "California George," was trapped, by Police Capt. J. H. McCullagh in Monday's EVENING WORLD.

THE ROLL OF MERIT.

Another List of Names of Bright Scholars.

The Weekly Recognition of the Children's Diligence.

A Spirit of Emulation Inspired in the Pupils in Our Primary Schools—Bright Youngsters Who by Good deportment and Attention to Their Studies Have Attained the First Places in Their Classes.

Another list of bright pupils in the public schools appears in the columns of THE EVENING WORLD, and the industrious youngsters, who by attention to study, diligence and good deportment have won for themselves places on the roll of merit, will have the pleasure of seeing that their efforts are recognized.

Of course, some children are mentally brighter than others, but in our public schools correctness in recitation is not the only requisite for high standing, and the less bright scholars, by good behavior and attention, may make up for losses in recitation and attain high places in their classes.

Every parent is proud of the ability of his children, and each good child is proud of the commendation of its parent, and tries hard to merit it. They appreciate, some of the teachers say, THE EVENING WORLD's Roll of Merit as a means of obtaining commendation, and it has inspired them with a spirit of emulation that has become apparent both in their deportment and recitations.

The object of printing the Roll of Merit was to instill this spirit of emulation, and the result is most satisfactory.

In the haste of mailing the cards containing the names of the pupils the numbers of the schools were in some instances forgotten. Those of the names which, through delay in mailing, did not reach THE EVENING WORLD in time for to-day's editions, will be printed on Monday.
